Dear Fellows and colleagues,

We have been in period of civil unrest with public disorder which unfortunately has been affecting the livelihood and convenience of many. We should remain respectful to each and everyone's views and we should not let our differences tear the medical profession apart. The true mark of a civil society is when those with opposite ways of thinking can come together in solidarity as a community. The Academy upholds that the most important mission of healthcare workers is to dedicate our lives' work to protecting and improving lives. Being a Fellow of the College, our obligation is to maintain delivery of the highest standards of healthcare and ensure patient safety. We do it through working hard for improvement and to achieve core competencies while striving for excellence. In response to the present challenging situation, various Colleges have demonstrated preparedness by formulating guidelines to cope with the result of mass gatherings, the physical and mental impact of civil unrest. We have not publicised any of these but will be ready to give advice when called upon.

The Academy is in a unique position to produce the best future specialist leaders. Simulation is providing us with another option to continue to learn new skills and is increasingly becoming more prevalent in healthcare education. Throughout the year, different simulation courses have been offered by the Hong Kong Jockey Club Innovative Learning Centre for Medicine. We aim to provide a zero-risk clinical environment to support specialists' continuous professional development by using the innovative simulation-based training facilities at the Academy.

Following an establishment launch in August this year, the Hong Kong Jockey Club Disaster Preparedness and Response Institute (HKJC DPRI) has started its operation officially on 1 November 2014. Its headquarters is located on the 9/F of the Academy building. A simple but significant ceremony was held on 31 October 2014 to commence its operation. Representatives from the HKJC, specialty colleges, key collaborators, and supporting organisations of HKJC DPRI graced us with their presence, providing great encouragement.

With a funding from the Hong Kong Jockey Club Charities Trust, HKJC DPRI is committed to establish Hong Kong as a regional and international leader in disaster preparedness and response training, and to promote local community resilience. A five years' well-structured and well-planned programme will be executed to train healthcare professional, NGOs and members of the community. Ongoing professional education and networking platform will be provided, enabling meaningful discussions related to policy development and accreditation.

We also look forward to future collaboration and exchanges between the HKJC DPRI and the HKSAR Government to enhance disaster preparedness and response in Hong Kong. This newly established venture will add a new dimension to public perception of the Academy. We will not be merely the statutory medical specialist accreditation body, but hopefully our new venture HKJC DPRI can become an institute that provides world-class standard disaster management solutions. We are all on alert with the Ebola epidemic which is a difficult crisis to be addressed requiring preparedness and humanitarian programmes that are smart, standardised, and appropriately scaled and managed. As a first project, HKJC DPRI will be holding an Ebola preparedness workshop and information session in collaboration with the Center for Health Protection and the Hong Kong Medical Association in late November.

The 21st Annual Conferment Ceremony cum 2014 David Todd Oration will be held on 19 December 2014. This year, the Academy will be conferring a total of 121 new Fellows. An Honorary Fellowship will be awarded to Prof Rosie Young, GBS, JP, in recognition of her distinguished achievements and remarkable contributions to quality healthcare services. I look forward to congratulating our new Fellows on their outstanding accomplishments and catching up with colleagues at this momentous occasion.

May I wish you a pleasant, peaceful, and productive autumn season, and we look forward to a prosperous 2015 new year.

Launching Ceremony cum Scientific Seminar of Hong Kong Jockey Club Disaster Preparedness and Response Institute (HKJC DPRI), 20 August 2014

Over 300 guests gathered at HKAM on 20 August 2014 to celebrate the establishment of HKJC DPRI, with a generous funding support from the Hong Kong Jockey Club Charities Trust. HKJC approved a grant of HK$271M over 5 years for the HKJC DPRI.

HKJC DPRI aims to establish Hong Kong as a regional and an international leader in disaster preparedness and response training, and to promote local community resilience. The institute commits to train 30 000 healthcare professionals, NGOs and members of the community in Hong Kong over a 5-year period. It will also provide an ongoing platform for professional education, networking, and discussions regarding policy development.

A Scientific Seminar on Disaster Management was held featuring a keynote speech, followed by a discussion forum. Director, Health Security and Emergencies of WHO Regional Office of the Western Pacific, Dr Ailan Li delivered a keynote speech addressing “Managing Health Security and Disaster Risks”. It covered some hot topics and social issues such as Ebola.

The speech was followed by a discussion forum chaired by the Honorary Secretary of HKAM, Dr CC Lau and participated by Prof Emily Chan of CCOUC, Prof CS Lau of HKU, Prof Jennifer Leaning of FXB Centre for Health & Human Rights of Harvard School of Public Health, Prof Cecilia Li of PolyU, Prof Fung Hong of HKCCM, and Dr HF Ho of HKCEM. The discussants shared topics related to disaster preparedness, response, and reconstruction.

We had the honour to have the Chief Executive of the HKSAR officiated the Launching Ceremony of HKJC DPRI. Director-General of WHO, Dr Margaret Chan, also congratulated the establishment of HKJC DPRI in a video message. During the Ceremony, a 4-minute video was showcased to provide background information about the work of HKJC DPRI.

HKJC DPRI started its operation on 1 November

Following an establishment launch in August, the office of the HKJC DPRI has started its operation officially on 1 November 2014. The headquarters of HKJC DPRI is located on the 9/F of the Academy. A simple but remarkable ceremony was held on 31 October to commemorate its launch with representatives from the HKJC, Specialty Colleges, key collaborators and supporting organisations of HKJC DPRI.

President addresses to the guests and introduces the DPRI Director Dr Kevin Hung

Dr Kevin Hung, Director of HKJC DPRI

The appointment of Dr Hung to the position of Director will be instrumental in executing numerous programmes and the daily operation of HKJC DPRI, as well as strengthening the collaboration with our strategic partners. Dr Hung, an Emergency Medicine specialist, holds two master degrees in the fields of public health from the Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) and disaster medicine from Europe, and has an MBChB degree from the CUHK. He started working on various needs assessment and evaluation trips in post-disaster rural settings. He was one of hundreds volunteer doctors in the aftermath of the 2008 Sichuan earthquake. He has keen interests in disaster and humanitarian crisis, rural and ethnic minority health, aviation and transportation medicine, in-flight medical emergencies, etc.

Achievements & Awards

Our President awarded an Honorary Fellowship of RCPI

Our President, Dr Donald Li, was awarded the Honorary Fellowship from The Royal College of Physicians of Ireland on 18 October 2014 in Dublin. The honour is in recognition of Dr Li's distinguished healthcare and community service, particularly his concerted effort in promoting excellence and maintaining specialist standards, encouraging the pursuit of continuous professional development. His passion and devotion to his vision is internationally recognised.

HKAM Open Day 2014 "Climbing the Healthcare Ladder" (27 September 2014)

The Open Day attracted over 500 participants, including career masters and teachers, university medical and dental students, secondary school students and parents. In addition to the exhibition booths manned by the Academy's 15 medical and dental specialty colleges, the Open Day also featured several guided tours to the HKJC Innovative Learning Centre for Medicine and the IGLOO 360-degree projection dome used for medical and other simulation trainings.

The President, Dr Donald Li expressed warm welcome to all participants at the Opening Ceremony. Officials and key leaders of Food and Health Bureau, Department of Health, Hospital Authority, two local medical schools graced us with their presence. College Presidents and representatives also shared their vast experiences and gave in-depth introduction of the medical specialties in a series of sharing sessions.

Ebola Preparedness Seminar (23 November 2014)

With the recent Ebola outbreak in West Africa and the spread of cases to US and Spain, it is becoming an increasing threat to the population in Hong Kong. Travellers from affected regions may not develop symptoms until days after arrival to Hong Kong. Primary care clinics may be the first responders to deal with potential and suspected Ebola patients, but may have limited opportunity to acquire appropriate level of training. As such, HKJC DPRI will hold a "Ebola Preparedness Seminar" at the Academy on 23 November 2014 from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. to provide a platform for healthcare professionals to enhance knowledge and skill application in preparedness and response. Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis. Interested Fellows can register online at www.hkamonline.hk/ebola/index.php.

iCMECPD App Now Available at App Store and Google Play

To further enhance the online services for CMECPD, the Academy has developed a mobile application for capturing attendance – iCMECPD App. The testing version (1.0) is now available at Apple's App Store and Google's Play. Fellows may download the App by scanning the respective QR code below and install it in their smartphone with operating system in iOS (7.1 or above) or Android (3.0 or above).

QR code (iOS)

QR code (Android)

We have started selecting some CMECPD activities held by the Academy/Colleges at the HKAM Jockey Club Building in November and December for trial run. Fellows can either use the App to scan the QR code of the event or use their new Fellowship Card (with QR code) to capture attendance via the iPad/tablet device provided by organiser. The full version of the App is expected to be ready by early 2015. Details will be announced in due course.
